The Center for Teaching Excellence’s 9th Annual Course Design Institute

what? Create innovative, powerful, and transformative learning environments using learning-centered design principles.

who? Any instructor willing to explore new possibilities and to actively engage in dialogue is encouraged to apply.

when? Monday–Friday, June 6-10 & June 27-July 1, 2016; 9:00am – 4:00pm where? Jefferson Scholars Foundation Building, University of Virginia

cost? The $800 registration fee* covers all programming costs, including one-on-one consultation services during CDI.

The CTE will provide:
• text, web & print resources
• lunch and refreshments each day of the Institute

*Eligible UVa instructors may use their annual Education Benefit. Visit hr.virginia.edu for info.

What past participants have to say:
“This is by far the best teaching workshop I have ever attended. The content was interesting and the instructors really practiced what they preached...”

CDI “allowed me to think deeply about the reasons for teaching my classes—and ultimately, the reasons I became a teacher.”

“I loved the environment—being surrounded by people who care about and love teaching was inspiring.”

For more information & to apply by the April 15th deadline: cte.virginia.edu/programs/course-design-institute/